Dear Mr Kennett

1. As the Technical Airworthiness Regulator (TAR) for the Australian Defence Force (ADF), I am pleased to reissue the enclosed Engineering Authority Certificate (EAC) to certify Rosebank Engineering Proprietary Limited as an Authorised Engineering Organisation (AEO). This revised AEO certificate is awarded to Rosebank Engineering to provide engineering design and construction services for hydraulic, fuel systems, mechanical and flight control components, inducted into Rosebank Engineering under approved Commonwealth formal instruments, for support equipment and the aircraft types listed in annex A.

The Senior Design Engineer (SDE) for Rosebank Engineering is responsible for monitoring compliance with this LEA and for initiating amendments. Changes to the SDE and any Deputy SDEs, or to design or configuration item management activities, shall be reported in writing to me, and be accepted by me. The authority conferred by this LEA, as part of the EAC, includes the Conditions and Limitations imposed in annex B. This LEA and associated EAC supersede EAC DGTA052 previously awarded to Rosebank Engineering.

3. The expansion in scope of AEO status to include S-70B-2 Seahawk, SK50 Sea King, DHC4 Caribou, B707, C130H and J Hercules, PC-9, S-70A-9 Blackhawk, CH47 Chinook, UH-1H Iroquois, Bell 206 Kiowa, Squirrel and Support Equipment is a major achievement for Rosebank Engineering.
